

"The layoffs come as the US company shifts its primary focus away from music.

One anonymous source close to TIDAL told RA that this shows the company is making a clear shift from 'being music-centric to product-centric—pushing tech initiatives instead of anything related to music, labels, distributors or artists."